Cargille Sacher Laboratories Coronavirus COVID-19 Readiness

At Cargille Laboratories, the health and well-being of our customers, employees, and communities is our top priority. We understand the concern and uncertainty you may be experiencing surrounding the coronavirus (COVID-19) and we are committed to being responsive to the needs of our customers and associates as the situation evolves.

We want to assure you that we follow the input and guidance from the local government and health department, and those from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) relating to the coronavirus (COVID-19)

For that reason, and out of an abundance of caution, we have briefed our employees on the benefits of social distancing and when to stay home and when to self-isolate should they have been exposed to, or have been in close contact with any person with a COVID-19 diagnosis or a suspected infection.

Our general operations will continue normally outside of these measures. We will continue to service our customers, avoiding any unnecessary gathering which may involve any risk for any involved person. What makes most sense, is most productive and safe, will be ascertained while following the guidance of public health officials.

We understand that these are trying and uncertain times and want to assure our customers that we are looking towards the future positively.

Should you have any questions or concerns during the COVID-19 pandemic, please do not hesitate to contact us directly. Our normal lead time has not been affected to date. But in the future, as availability of raw materials change, there is a possibility that there may be longer lead times for select items. When placing your order, we will supply the most up to date information. If the unlikely event should occur that any U.S. government mandates (our) people to stay home, we would close. Please refer to our website, www.cargille.com, for updates as they occur.

We wish all our customers and families' good health.
